

Green Mountain SCHOOL

2019-2020
YearBOOK

Coronavirus Pandemic Closes School Early

Coronavirus
(COVID-19)

There has always been a lot of lore around Friday the 13th, when supposedly bad things will happen. For all of us at Green Mountain School, Friday the 13th of March 2020 will be a day we remember forever. On that day, we all said goodbye to each other for the rest of the school year – it was the last day of school for the year because the Governor ordered schools to close to help prevent the spread of the COVID-19 virus outbreak.

We had an all-school assembly, and Mr. Vogeler told us that students were going home, maybe for the rest of the year. Some of us were happy. Some of us were sad. Some were scared, and some were anxious. Mr. Vogeler answered our questions, re-assured us, and told us we would be alright. As we rode away from school on the buses that afternoon, there were tears in the eyes of students and teachers. We didn't know what would come next, and our Green Mountain Family was being torn apart.

Teachers made learning packets at first, and then they made video lessons. For teachers and students, distance learning was a challenge and required perseverance – but April was the month we focus on perseverance for our PAWS assembly. We learned to persevere through learning at home and teaching at a distance. We learned how much we miss being at school every day with our friends and teachers, aides and bus drivers, and our principal. We learned that the most important thing we have at Green Mountain School are the relationships and our community of learners and educators.

Friday the 13th of March 2020 was a sad day for all of us, but it wasn't a bad day. We learned how important school is to each of us, and learned how special our Green Mountain Family is in our lives. We should remember the school closure of 2020 not for what we lost, but for what we learned about ourselves, our school family, and what is important.

Green Mountain staff prepare learning packets to be delivered to families while practicing social distancing.

Distance Learning the New Normal

FRIDAY, MARCH 13th, 2020

THE DAY THAT CHANGED GREEN MOUNTAIN SCHOOL FOREVER

March 13, 2020 at 1:30 PM Governor Jay Inslee announces the closure of all schools in the State of Washington through April 27, 2020 in response to the COVID-10 Pandemic. At 2:00 PM Mr. Vogeler calls an all school assembly to share this news with students and staff. The immediate response from many students was “no school for three weeks, Woo Hoo!” However, for others it meant the cancellation of Green Mountain’s Cispus Outdoor School trip which brought tears and words of anger. It also meant a closure of a place that allows students a place of consistency and security. By the time students loaded the busses at 2:50 PM the elation over no school for three weeks had changed to goodbyes, exchanges of phone numbers and addresses, and tears among students as well as staff. This is a historical event that students will remember forever.

Skip forward to April 6th. The Governor announces that schools will be closed for the rest of the school year and are to provide learning opportunities for students through June 19th using a distance learning model. That meant providing instruction on-line. What did that mean for Green Mountain Families when most families do not have internet powerful enough for on line learning platforms? What about access to multiple sources of technology? Mr. Vogeler set in motion a plan that would remove these barriers for our families. Classroom computer carts were dismantled and school computers were distributed to our families who needed them. In addition it was decided that teachers would begin creating and videotaping new learning content for students. The videos would be accessible through the Green Mountain School website and downloaded to jump drives so students without internet could watch the lesson and participate in new learning.

The entire Green Mountain staff rose to the challenge. Teachers began participating in weekly collaboration meetings deciding the best way to produce quality video lessons and support materials. Para-educators, administrators and office staff worked together to design a process for organizing and delivering learning packets to students, while establishing a process for disinfecting any materials that were delivered to or returned from families.

As I write this, we are in Week 4 of distance learning and I can’t express enough how exceptionally cooperative and supportive our GMS staff, students and families have been working through this unprecedented time in education.

Gratefully!

Happy Retirement, Mrs. Shealy!

What has mostly stayed unchanged since you started teaching? The universal desire to inspire our students to seek to understand. To become life-long learners willing to investigate, create, and discover opportunities for personal growth, successful abilities, as well as spiritual strength. As teachers, we plant seeds that will grow roots beyond individual weaknesses. With every weakness there is an opportunity to dust off what didn't work and retry with an individualized tool of success. Teachers are trained to discover, locate, and provide those tools that will make that difference, bridge a gap of understanding, and empower a student beyond their misunderstandings into a "can do" success.

What's the best thing about being a teacher? Inspiring students in becoming life-long learners. Placing a book in a reader's hand. Learning a student's personal connection. Empowering a student with a solution that fits their understanding.

What accomplishments as a teacher fill you with pride? Pride is a difficult word. It can be dangerous leading to missed opportunities. Or, it can be an observation that brings a moment of joy, hope, and inspiration. Those opportunities when you see a light of understanding shining in your student's eyes. When a student smiles with satisfaction in the completion of a difficult task. Watching a student present in front of an audience, while in your mind you see the child that felt defeated by their "lack" of understanding. Learning about a conversation in which a former student conveys how something you inspired in them led them forward as an adult.

What advice would you like to give to your students? Be willing to be a life-long learner. Keep a "good-choice" book available for daily inspiration and discoveries. In your daily walk, seek to discover one insight about someone else. Gather your thoughts in a journal, you are living history... one day your thoughts about what is working, what isn't working, or what creative design might inspire others is valuable. Know that you touch the hearts of others every day. Throughout every year at Green Mountain, it has been an honor to have served each of you. I have been blessed beyond measure with an overflow of loving support, crazy-silly moments of joy, inspirational families, a staff that ensures accomplishments, and educators committed to leaving no one behind or without. As always... Stay safe... Be Kind... Be Wise!

What is your favorite book/genre? Well, any book that I'm sharing is one of my favorite books. Over the years, I've become a seasonal reader. August is always a good time for new knowledge and old favorites. October is perfect for mysteries. December is about family "traditional" reads, classics that bring meaning and joy to our holiday. January begins with Jan Karon's newest book and ends with a biography. February-March might be historical fiction, a book suggestion, or an "out of this world" Sci-Fi exploration. April-May is all about spring, including gardening catalogues! Summer reading is my "lazy-enjoyment" slow reads.

My top ten books, well those are:

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------|
| 1. Bible | 6. Amelia Peabody mysteries |
| 2. To Kill a Mockingbird | 7. Fahrenheit 451 |
| 3. The Secret Garden | 8. The Book Thief |
| 4. Winnie the Pooh and of course Little Bear readers | 9. The Hunger Games series |
| 5. At Home in Mitford series | 10. The Song of Bernadette |

What's your favorite quote?

"Books are the quietest and most constant of friends: they are the most accessible and wisest of counselors, and the most patient of teachers." Charles W. Eliot

What are your favorite foods? Cheeseburger, fries, and a chocolate malt. Or, popcorn. It might be frosting with a bit of cake. Then again, it could be any pasta salad!

What are your favorite colors? Turquoise and brown. Lavender and olive green.

What are your plans for retirement? Inspiring learners in my community. Home, family, and quilting. Writing book reviews and journaling. Church activities, studies, and mission work.

Kindy Classroom Memories

The Kindergarteners:

Logan: I remember when we left early on the first day of school.

Jaxson: I remember when I dressed up like an old man for the 100th day of school and we had yummy snacks.

Colton: I remember dressing up for the 100th day of school. My favorite thing was being able to go to school and learn from Ms. Carlson.

Riley: I remember when we dressed up like we were 100 years old.

Raelynn: I remember playing the puppet show and making the heart pup.

Easton: I remember how fun it was when we went to Lewisville Park for lunch.

Lucy: I remember when, on the first day of school we had to write our name on the board.

Cassia: I remember when we made the 'Jampire' drawings.

Weston: I remember when we had recess and P.E.

Payton: I remember when we played with the puppets.

Wesley: I remember when we played at recess with all of our friends.

Aria: I remember when we did every single art project.

Wyatt: I remember when we played all of the math games and learned all of the lessons.

Ms. Carlson:

I remember when I got to meet all of my awesome students at the Ice Cream Social.

- I remember when we went to the pumpkin patch and met the animals and everyone picked out their own pumpkin.
- I remember when we worked really hard on our Winter Program songs and had an amazing performance!
- I remember when we all drank 'Jitter Juice' on the first day of school.
- I remember when Mr. Sciarretta brought the firetruck to school.
- I remember when Kindergarten led the Halloween Parade.
- I remember when we learned about living and non-living things and went on a scavenger hunt.
- I remember when we learned how to do crayon rubbings.
- I remember when we learned about the Chinese New Year and found out if we were horses or snakes.
- I remember when families were able to come to school and eat lunch during the Thanksgiving Feast.
- I remember when we learned how tall a Koala is and if we were taller.

First Grade Classroom Memories...

We remember playing on the nature trail and playground at recess time. It was so much fun! What a great place to run and play!

We remember the first P.A.W.S. assembly where we told the whole school about Responsibility. We made big posters that spelled out R-E-S-P-O-N-S-I-B-I-L-I-T-Y.

We remember having a green eggs and ham breakfast in the cafeteria cooked by some of our parents. This was to celebrate "Read Across America Day" for Dr. Seuss' Birthday.

We remember a great field trip to the Pomeroy Farms pumpkin patch, picking our own pumpkins, and then going to Lewisville Park to have lunch and play.

First Graders aren't the only students who love recess!

- I remember when we got to pet Mrs. McClennen's dog. He is a pug and his name is Tank.
- I remember when Mr. Vogeler was the Monopoly Man for Halloween.

Will Abernathy:

- "I remember having green eggs and ham for Read Across America."

Kaytlin Taylor:

- I remember when on Cocoa and Snuggles Day, teacher said to bring a stuffed animal that could fit in our backpack. Dodge brought a teddy bear as big as he was and it was funny.
- I remember when Mr. Vogeler was dressed as the Monopoly Man for Halloween. He had the real Monopoly Man mustache, and it was real!

Shiah Welch:

- I remember when Tank came to visit us.
- I remember when we did a performance and Mrs. McClennen's husband came to see us.
- I remember when we sang "Alvin and the Chipmunks" and we messed up a lot.

Everlee Brown:

- I remember when we made 100 day masks and I named myself Puppy Girl.

Kari Lewis:

- I remember when Mrs. McClennen tripped with the big bucket straws and they spilled everywhere.
- I remember singing on stage in front of all those people at Christmas!

Katie Lewis:

- I remember being a friend on the playground to people who were lonely.
- I remember playing with the dogs after school when Katelyn brought her dog and had fun playing with Callie.

Mrs. McClennen:

- I remember when we filled our Bear Bloom bucket and had a Cocoa and Snuggles Party.
- I remember when we designed egg protectors so we could drop them from the top of the stairs and Shiah, Asher, and Gracie made a parachute for theirs and it worked.
- I remember when we signed God Bless the USA in front of the school.

CISPUS OUTDOOR SCHOOL 2020

Due to the COVID19 pandemic the 5th and 6th grade students were unable to attend Cispus Outdoor School in April as originally scheduled. Our students were deeply saddened by the postponement of this event. The students worked hard participating in the Papa Murphy's discount card fundraiser and the Flower Power fundraiser. In addition, we had companies from Clark County donate funds for our outstanding program. I would like to thank the following people for their support this year:

Green Mountain PTSO

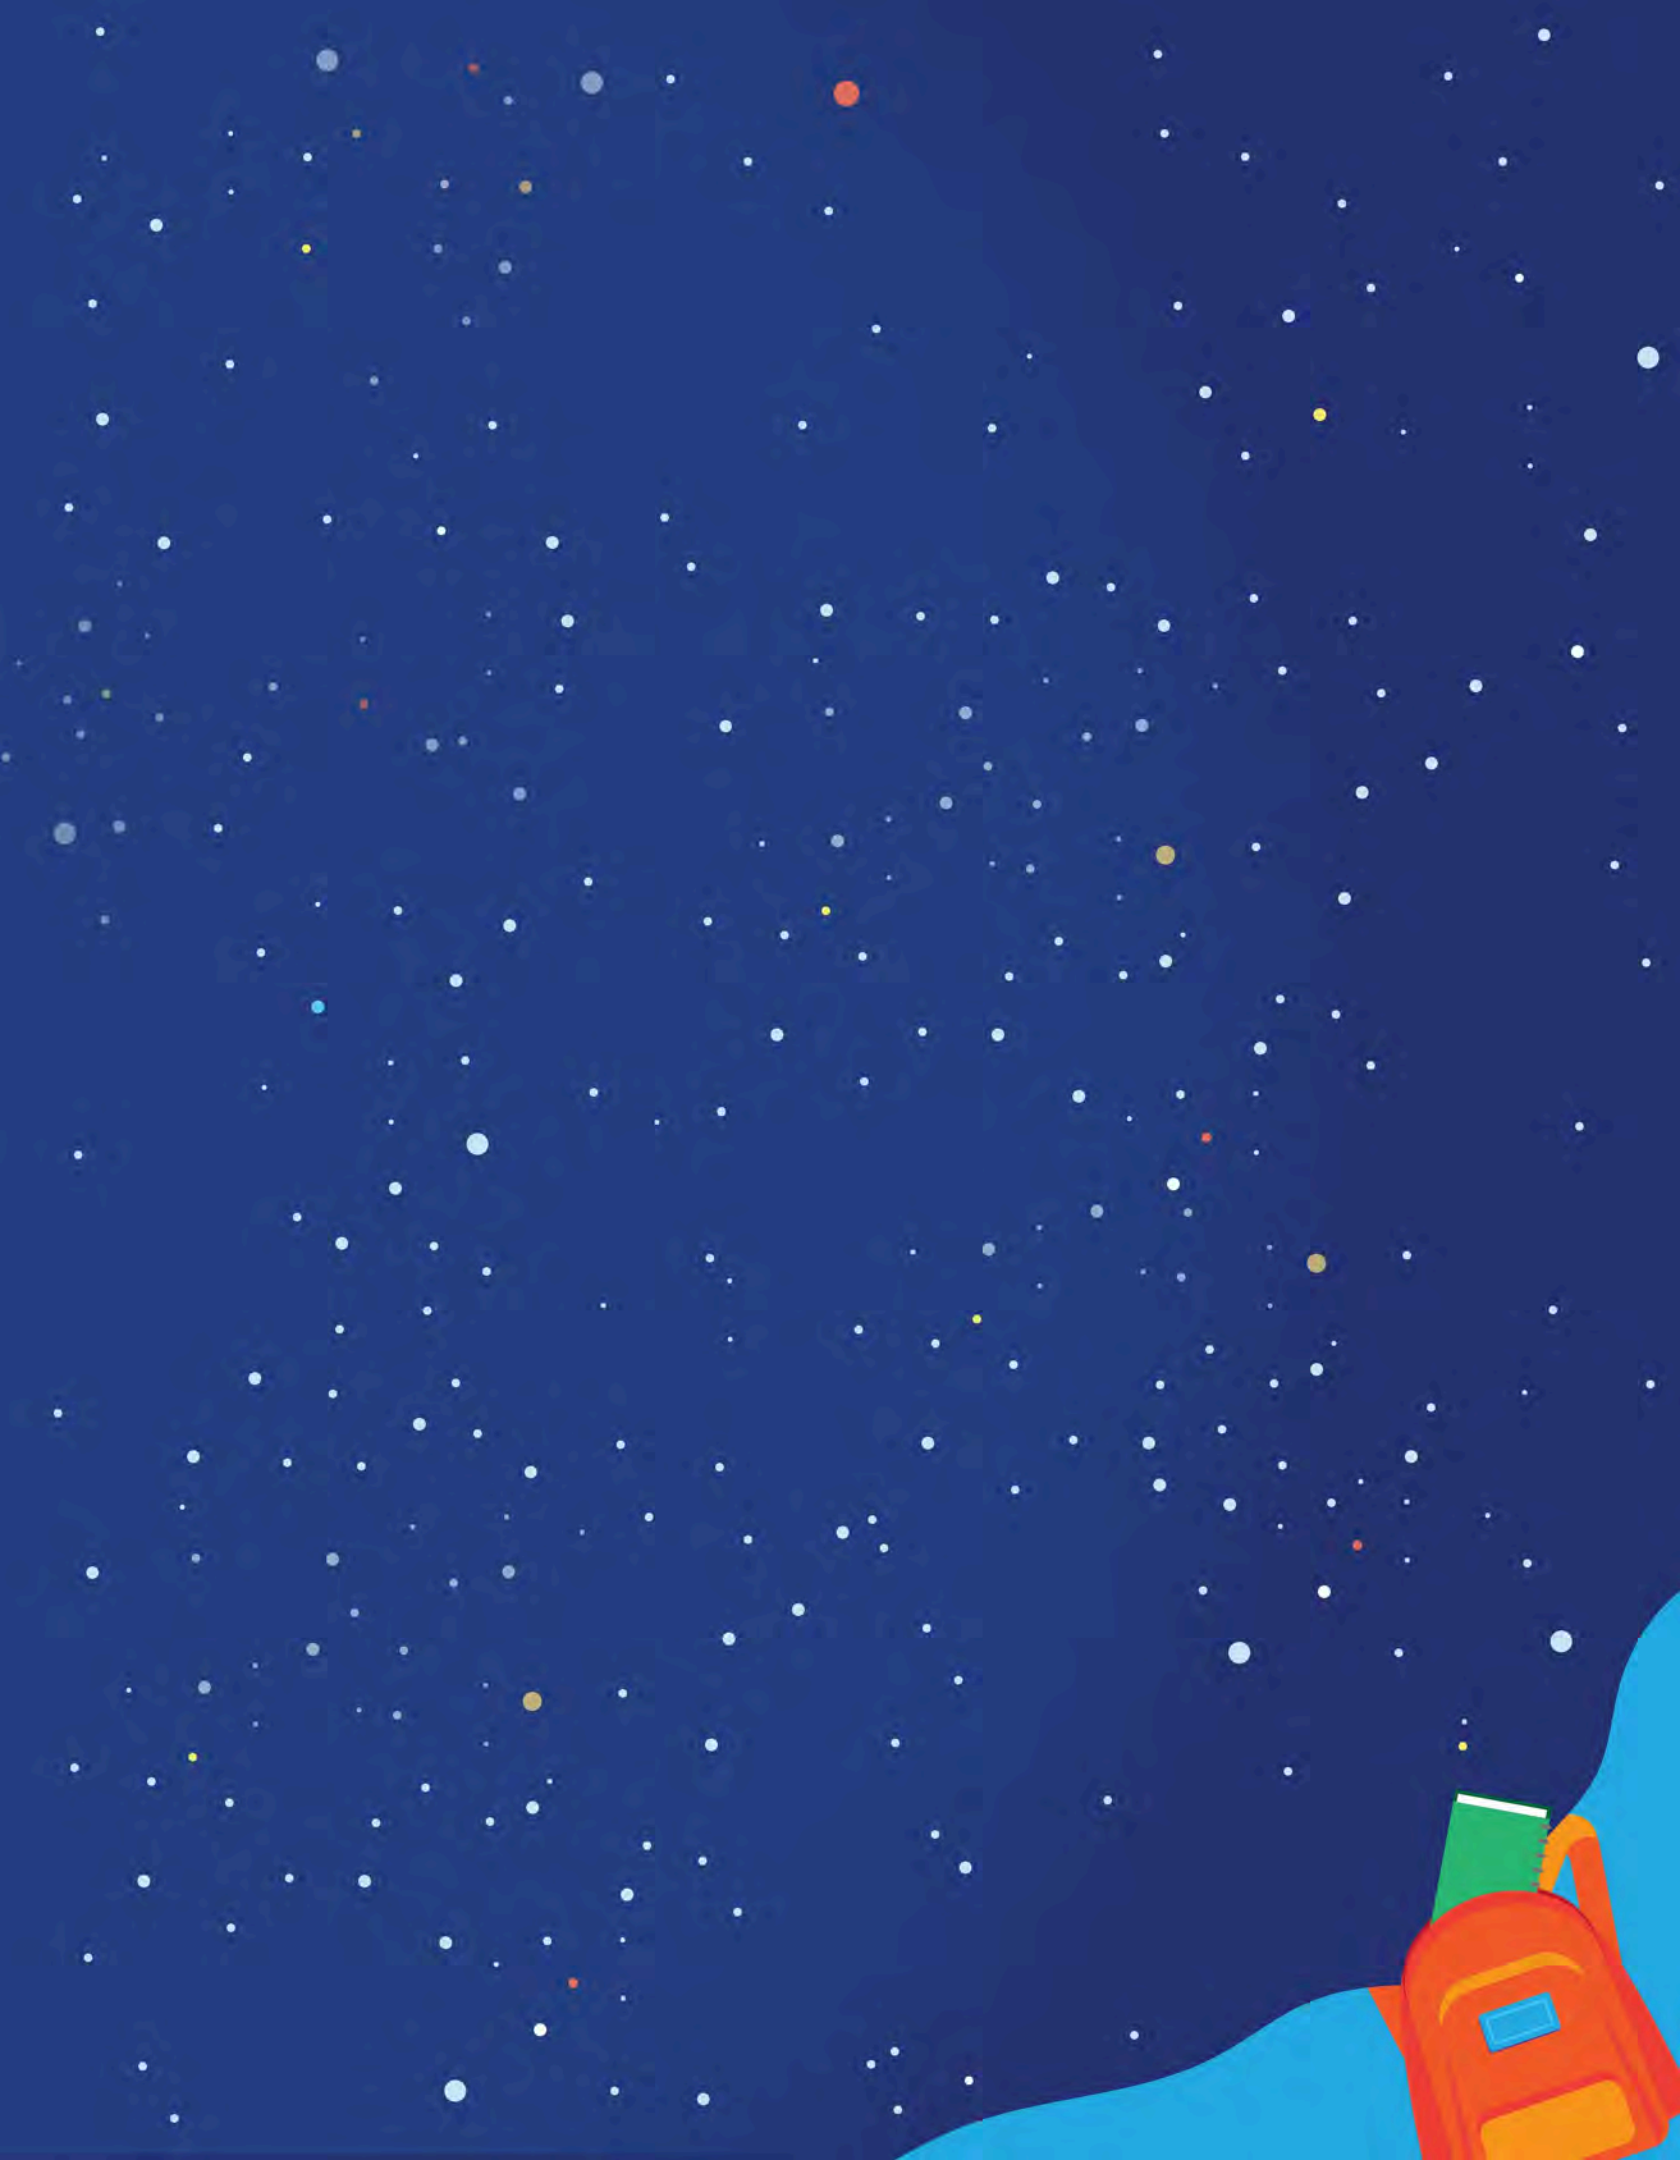

5th and 6th Grade Students & Families
